2026 Conservation and Preservation Workshop Series

The Georgia Archives Conservation Department is excited to offer four 3-day workshops in 2026 focused on the conservation and preservation of paper artifacts and books. These sessions are designed for anyone working in cultural heritage institutions, including archives, libraries, museums, and galleries, as well as individuals interested in learning how to better care for personal collections. Workshops range from beginner to intermediate, and no prior conservation experience is required.

Attend one workshop or join us for multiple sessions to build your skills and confidence in preserving paper and book materials.
